Ernst Homes Join NHBA Builder 20 Group

Hendersonville, Tennessee, September 14, 2007: Ernst Homes has joined the National Home Builder Association's Builder 20 Group to enrich their knowledge and education of the homebuilding industry and to network with other builders across the country.

The 20 Clubs are comprised of similar type builders from non-competing markets who meet several times a year to share their wisdom and learn from each other ways to improve their operations and increase their bottom lines. Members share and compare financial information, look for trouble spots, and offer each other advice on how to increase their profit ratios, improve their performance, and drive higher levels of customer satisfaction.

Ernst Homes is a design-build Custom Home Builder serving the Middle Tennessee area. Their commitment to providing consistent and comprehensive personal service with each project from inception to completion makes them unrivaled in the market. The passion in which their entire team involves itself with each client experience is the difference people see when choosing Ernst Homes.
